ARH marks completion of repairs with ribbon cutting ceremony

By Miranda M. Cantrell
Morgan County ARH officials held a re-dedication ceremony on Monday, Aug. 13, to mark the completion of building renovations in the aftermath of the March 2 tornado.
The hospital sustained extensive roof, heating and cooling, window and cosmetic damages totaling approximately $4 million during the storm, which also destroyed several homes near the facility.
Index Community Church Pastor Mike Frisby gave the invocation before opening remarks from Morgan County ARH Community CEO Steve Gavalchik.
"I always believed health care was an art form," Gavalchik said.

"But after the tornado, I realized I was wrong. Health care is a 'heart' form, as we have seen through dedication of the hospital staff, elected officials and so many volunteers."
"Everyone pulled together, and vital services to our patients never faltered. I just want to thank everyone who helped for what they have done for our patients and our community."
Gavalchik and ARH officials recognized the Lexington-based firm of Denham-Blythe Construction, whose employees re-roofed the hospital immediately after the storm before the March 5 snowfall.
"Everybody pulled together for this project," Denham-Blythe representative Michael Patterson said. "We want to thank all those who responded. Many people went along with us on this journey. This is a great time to celebrate."

Chase Crigler, field representative for U.S. Sen. Mitch McConnell, read a statement from the Senate minority leader, who toured Morgan County in the immediate tornado aftermath.
"Congratulations," Sen. McConnell wrote. "This re-opening is a testament to the community's dedication to rebuilding West Liberty. Your future is exceptionally bright."
Morgan County ARH Chief of Staff Dr. Bethany Lucas also addressed the audience.
"Our staff has done a great job since the tornado," Dr.

Lucas said. "Everyone pulled together. We want to be a part of this community for several years to come. This is our home."
State Rep. John Will Stacy said the re-dedication of the hospital represents a much larger community renaissance.
"This is not just about the rebirth of the hospital," Rep. Stacy said. "This is about the rebirth of Morgan County. It would have been easy for ARH officials to cut their losses in West Liberty and move on somewhere else. But they decided to stay here because they are committed to this community."
"The hospital employees have shown great courage and

Long Term Recovery Team working to assist local tornado victims

By Miranda M. Cantrell
The Morgan County Long Term Recovery Team is currently working to secure funds to assist local tornado victims as they attempt to rebuild their homes and lives.
The organization, established in the March 2 tornado aftermath, seeks to satisfy unmet needs of individuals affected by the disaster.
Recovery Team Finance Committee Chair Jennifer Sheets said the group's funds currently total $107,000.

"The funds are dispersed on a priority basis," Sheets said. "Some of the money is earmarked for specific uses. The funding comes from various sources, including several church organizations and businesses."
Sheets also noted that officials from Commercial Bank, Bank of the Mountains, Citizens Bank and First National Bank have pledged to disperse significant portions of their tornado relief funds to the group.
Case Manager Linda Watterson said that the funds will be dispersed to individuals on a case-by-case basis through the group's finance, case management, volunteer and construction committees.

"We help people find the resources they need to get their lives back on track," Watterson said. "We are contacting everyone affected by the tornado to make sure that some sense of normalcy is being restored in their lives."
Watterson, who lost her own home to the tornado, noted that case managers are attempting to follow up with approximately 1,200 people.

"We have also been trying to find tornado victims who may not have contacted us," Watterson said. "We can help them apply for food and household vouchers, and provide funding for other items as well."
Members are currently requesting donations of furniture and household appliances for individuals who have moved

By Miranda M. Cantrell
Local officials recently announced that the 42nd Annual Sorghum Festival will be held Sept. 28-30 in downtown West Liberty despite the remnants of extensive tornado damage.
Festival Co-Chair Belinda Jordan said that year's festival schedule will remain largely the same as years past.
"Everything will be the same," Jordan said. "The tent will be on Main Street and the food booths will be in the Commercial Bank parking lot, as always."

Jordan noted that fencing and orange mesh will be placed around remaining Main Street buildings and debris as a safety precaution.
"There are some safety concerns," Jordan said. "But many of the old buildings — including Commercial Bank — are scheduled for demolition."

determination, and we owe them great thanks – for what they have done, and what they will do in the future.”

State Sen. Robert Stivers concurred.

“I saw complete devastation in the days after the tornado,” Sen. Stivers said. “It is amazing to see what has been accomplished at this hospital and throughout the community. I want to congratulate the hospital employees and thank them for staying committed to Morgan County.”

ARH President and CEO Jerry Haynes reflected on his decision to preserve Morgan County ARH.

“There was never any doubt that we would rebuild,” Haynes said. “It was important to us and to the community to proceed quickly and make the Morgan County facility operational again. We take our role in this community very seriously.

“The people of Morgan County have come together, and their spirit has carried them through this disaster. We are proud to be part of this community. We see what people are made of in times of adversity, and Morgan County will be stronger than ever before.”

Morgan County ARH Community CEO Steve Gavalchik (left) accepted a plaque from ARH President and CEO Jerry Haynes for his dedication to the hospital following the March 2 tornado. Haynes also presented a plaque to ARH employees.

Haynes also presented commemorative plaques to Gavalchik and hospital employees before turning the floor over to Judge Executive Tim Conley.

“This is a sad story with a happy outcome,” Conley said. “We have to have health care, and we are fortunate to have it here at home. This hospital has saved many lives – literally and economically. I want to congratulate to the ARH staff and thank them for everything they have done.

“This disaster has shown us that Morgan County truly has unbridled spirit. Yes, we will cry at times... But we will also celebrate. We have a very bright future ahead, and there will be many more celebrations to come.”

The event concluded with a special ribbon cutting ceremony, which included several ARH and government dignitaries.

For more information regarding Morgan County ARH renovations and services, call 743-3186 or visit the hospital at 467 Liberty Rd.

Approximately 80 crafters are already confirmed for the festival, which will also host a folk art tent for approximately 15-20 local artists.

“We have seen a great response from the crafters,” Jordan said. “They are very excited about the festival, which will also include the parade and several youth activities.”

This year’s festival theme is “EF3 Sorghum: The Year That Almost Wasn’t” and the parade theme is “Memories.”

“We felt that it was important to keep our traditions alive,” Jordan said. “It is important to people to have a sense of normalcy, and the festival is the year’s biggest fundraiser for many of our local civic groups and other organizations.”

The Judge's Corner

By Tim Conley

Morgan County Judge/Executive

Hello from Judge Tim Conley, wife Tammy, staff and employees:

Lynn Nickell was in my office the other day and mentioned Baystown, which if I remember correctly was at the junction of Old 172 and Route 460.

This conversation got me to thinking of the names of communities toward my childhood home. Here is the directions to Mommy and Daddy's house as I remember as a young boy; you leave West Liberty on 460 toward Magoffin County, you pass Spaws Creek, then the Wingo stretch, cross Day Hill, round the Sam Litteral curve, cross the Dirty Ear Potter Hill, continue up the War Creek straight stretch, cross the Bonnie Cox Hill, turn left at Jones Creek Bridge on 364, up through Cottle, past Lacy Creek Church of Christ, turn left on Lacy Creek at Bernie Dyer's, cross Kate and Vinson Williams's bridge, pass Anos and Victor Conley's, turn left up the hill and you are in Honeymoon Hollow.

When I went to mow I would go out of the hollow, turn left and go up Florress and maybe up Pelfrey Fork or Contrary Fork or the head of Lacy Creek and occasionally we went to church across the Arkas Francis Hill to Tark Hill. Sometimes the bus would stop at Virgie store at Matthew, which is at the forks of Rockhouse and Pricey. That is a lot of communities, but back in a simpler life every community had a name and an identity.

Now think back and enjoy remembering all of the names of communities in your part of the county. I hope you enjoy my writings about a simpler time in our lives.

You can reach me at 450 Prestonsburg Street, West Liberty, KY 41472 or phone: (606) 743-3897.

More than 4,000 rural postmasters retire under plan

Aug. 13 — Last week the U.S. Postal Service made it known that, thanks to a $20,000 incentive, nearly 3,800 postmasters have taken early retirement as of July 31, and about 300 will be retiring at the end of August and September, bringing the total to 4,100.

By way of a tribute to them all, Save The Post Office writes that "nearly 6,000 POSTPlan post offices are losing their postmasters — 1,800 to retirement and 3,900 to transfers. These post offices will not be welcoming a new full-time postmaster ever again. Instead, a postmaster relief or a clerk will be filling in until the Postal Service conducts a survey and holds a community meeting and decides the fate of the post office. Those that aren't closed will have their hours reduced, and the postmaster position will be filled by a part-time worker. All the retirements and transfers are causing confusion and consternation for customers and postal workers. Those 4,100 retirements represent over 130,000 years of experience — institutional knowledge that will disappear overnight.

Christian Appalachian Project founder has died

Aug. 10 — Monsignor Ralph Beiting, the Roman Catholic priest who founded the Christian Appalachian Project and served the people of Eastern Kentucky since World War II, has died. He was 89.

Beiting was introduced to Appalachia when he traveled to the region on a mission trip in 1946. He had lived through the Great Depression and was familiar with living in poverty, but in Appalachia, he said during an interview with Story Corps, he had found "that there was another America ... the America of Appalachia." He said the poverty there at the time was the worst he had ever witnessed.

Charles Compton of WEKU, the public station at Eastern Kentucky University, reports that Beiting was called in 1950 to start a Catholic church in Berea, just outside the Appalachian coalfield, and though his reception was not warm, he continued to "spread the faith and raise money" to build more churches throughout Eastern Kentucky. In the 1950s, Beiting launched a summer camp, Cliffview Lodge, that offered recreation and fellowship to boys from poor families. In 1964, the camp became the Christian Appalachian Project, which Beiting declared would "be a group that would roll up our sleeves and get the job done." It expanded its work to a variety of projects to help the Appalachian poor.

Beiting served as pastor of parishes in the Berea region until 1981, when he transferred to Eastern Kentucky, where he founded and/or constructed 20 churches. He served as CAP's president until 1986 and was chairman until 1999.

Area Deaths

Thelma Adkins Bourne

Thelma (Adkins) Bourne, 95, passed away August 1, 2012, in Berea, Ky. She was born January 26, 1917, in Sandy Hook, Ky., and lived in Wrigley, Ky., in her younger years.

Thelma was predeceased by parents, Merdith and Mollie (Howard) Adkins of Wrigley, Ky.; one brother, Bus; sisters, Delma, Lillian, Lee, Katie and Tina; her husband, Irvin Bourne; son, Randall Adkins; granddaughter, Randa Adkins, and grandson, Robbie Adkins.

She is survived by her sisters, Sudie Reynolds, Mary Lamb, and Nina Roberts along with numerous grandchildren and great-grandchildren, and by a special friend who took care of her in her senior years, Kathleen Goines of Richmond, Ky.

Thelma grew up in an era where there was no electricity and no running water in the homes around the Wrigley area. She was the oldest of ten siblings, nine girls and one boy. Most of all the family's clothing was made at home on a treadle sewing machine. Her mother, Mollie, taught Thelma how to cut out patterns from paper flour sacks to make dresses for the girls. At the age of ten, she had grown up with long legs that could reach the treadle sewing machine, and her mother taught her how to sew. Thelma never forgot how to sew, making most of her own clothing until her death.

In those days, there were no gravel roads to travel, so creek beds and side paths were her way to travel between Wrigley and Sandy Hook. At the age of 14, Thelma rode the family's mule, Dan, from Wrigley to Sandy Hook carrying the U. S. Mail. Her daily route included picking up the mail from the Wrigley post office and carrying it to Sandy Hook where she would spend the night, then carry the Sandy Hook mail back to Wrigley the following day. Snow and sleet, rain or shine, she traveled this route six days a week for two years.

In the years following, Thelma was a housekeeper for David and Hanna Lewis, who owned the Wrigley Mercantile Store and U. S. Post Office.

Since her sister, Delma, had moved to Florida a few years earlier, Thelma followed her to Florida on the bus and she lived there for several years. She lived in Richmond, Ky., until her death.

A memorial service was held on Saturday, August 4, 2012, at the Kingdom Hall, Richmond, where she was a member.

(This obituary was prepared by Thelma's sister, Nina Adkins Roberts, of Venice, Florida.)

Thought of the week: Treat people the way you want to be treated, talk to people the way you want to be talked to. Respect is not given, it is EARNED.

School has began, the buses are rolling down the highways and back roads, I'm sure the kids are excited to get back to see friends and teachers and to began a new year. Be careful when out and watch for the kids waiting for their buses.

Tamera and Dalton Tate of Mt. Sterling came on Saturday to spend several days before she starts back to college. The summer has went quick.

The writer was in Clay City on Monday to see a physician, I think. I probably have a ulcer. I know it's very painful for sure. Mom, Barbara Carpenter, went with me. We ran on down to Mt. Sterling and visited with Tamera and Dalton a few minutes and on to the grocery store.

Barbara Carpenter was in town on Wednesday for a dental appointment. She had a root canal. That's always fun. Hope it went well.

A belated happy belated anniversary wish to Fay and Virgil Ferguson. Hope you have many more together. God bless.

Harold Goodpaster visted with Venus at the Wolfe Rehab Center on Saturday. He met up with Venus's niece, Maxine McKinney Parrish and husband Don of Florida. They came in to attend the Hazel Green Academy Homecoming. They always stop in to visit Venus and call often to check on her.

Scotty Smith, who was injured in a lawnmower accident, was moved from U.K. to Cardinal Hill to recuperate. He still has no feeling in his feet or toes. He will be there for about a month and then come home for a while before returning.

Louise Hall's grandson, Randall Lamb, called her and told her he had a cancer that had been removed but it had come back. Also calling Lousie by phone was her granddaughter, Pamela Lamb.

Her other granddaughter, Gloria Wilson, is a nurse practitioner and is going back to college to get her Dr.'s degree.

BUB

You were a father, a son, a brother, and a friend, you were there for all of us until the end.

You were a father with a love so very deep, that in your sons hearts they will always weep.

You were a son so loyal and true,

That your father searches in the sky so blue.

For his son that he lost and longs to find,

But for now can only see in the eye of his mind.

You were a brother and loved them so very dear,

That your brother and sisters have vowed to keep you near.

You were a friend always there to lend a hand,

You didn't judge, or want, or ever demand.

You just wanted peace and for everyone to get along,

You didn't want arguing over who was right or wrong.

Now that you're gone we can all finally see,

That peace is what you wanted, and peace there will be.

So Bub for now until we see you again,

All of our love and prayers is what we will send.

Morgan ARH MEDICAL Moment Get Your Potassium and Stay Healthy

Bananas, tomatoes, oranges, cantaloupe, peaches, spinach, Swiss chard, lima beans, potatoes—these are some of the world's healthiest foods, in part because they are excellent sources of potassium.

Potassium is an important mineral, one of a class known as electrolytes. When dissolved in water, electrolytes conduct electricity needed for nerves and muscles to do their work.

Both nerves and muscles need a good supply of potassium. The mineral plays a role in the storage of carbohydrates in the muscles for endurance activities, and it helps regulate the body's fluid balance and blood pressure. When there is insufficient potassium, nerves and muscles fail to function as they should, and the heart (the body's most important muscle) may lose its ability to stay in normal rhythm. Bethany Lucas, MD

About one of every five Americans admitted to a hospital has a potassium deficiency. And a large meta-analysis published in 2011 concluded that increasing potassium intake by 1.64 grams a day could result in 1.15 million fewer stroke deaths a year worldwide while also reducing the risk of heart disease.

Most Americans, unfortunately, do not consume as much potassium as they should. The Institute of Medicine, in a recent report, recommended intake of 4.7 grams a day, but most American adults consume less than half that amount... and African Americans even less.

One major benefit from consuming more potassium, according to the report, is to blunt the effect of too much sodium, another important electrolyte. Ideally, a person should consume more potassium than sodium (some experts recommend a 5:1 ratio). But Americans actually get about twice as much sodium, and this imbalance is believed to be a major factor in hypertension and other heart problems.

An enzyme-based transport mechanism known as the potassium-sodium pump is charged with the duty of moving potassium and sodium in opposite directions across cell membranes. Three sodium ions are pumped out for every two potassium ions pumped in. This pumping action is particularly important for nerve cells as they transmit impulses to working muscles.

Mainly through the kidneys, the body takes care of electrolyte imbalances. Eat too much salt, and you get thirsty. As you drink more water, the sodium is diluted, and your kidneys are signaled to hang onto water. This extra fluid in the cells, though, creates more work for the heart, and the result over time is hypertension.

Older persons, African Americans and diabetics are particularly sensitive to the effects of too much salt. The Third National Health and Nutrition Survey (NHANES III) found that, over a 15-year period, higher sodium intake was associated with increased mortality from cardiovascular disease and all causes while higher potassium intake was associated with a lower risk of death. "The major implications," wrote the authors, "are that a diet balanced in both micronutrients is important."

Most Americans know they should cut back on their sodium intake, but few actually do so, primarily because most of the sodium in the American diet comes from processed foods rather than the salt shaker.

A seven-ounce pork chop, for example, contains 680 milligrams of potassium and 122 milligrams of sodium. A similar portion of ham, on the other hand, is not only loaded with sodium (1,850 milligrams) but has a reduced level of potassium (480 milligrams).

But it's at least as important to get an adequate amount of potassium, which is readily obtained from fresh fruits and vegetables, whole grains, legumes and dairy products.

The DASH diet that has been found effective in reducing hypertension calls for five servings a day of fruits and five a day of vegetables plus whole grains and low-fat dairy products. Combining the DASH diet with sodium restriction has been found even more effective.

Fresh fruits such as apricots, bananas, peaches and oranges are particularly good sources of potassium and excellent alternatives to salty snacks.

It's important, however, not to try to improve your potassium-sodium ratio by taking potassium supplements without the advice of your doctor. For stroke prevention, studies have failed to find the same benefit from potassium obtained from supplements. And too much potassium (or too little sodium) can be even more dangerous than not enough.

There is also no need to get hung up on laboriously counting milligrams of potassium. If you center your diet around fresh foods that you cook yourself, with at least five servings of fruits and vegetables, you'll be getting the potassium you need.

July 23--Sympathy is extended to those who are bereaved and get well wishes to the sick and shut-ins.

I was in town on Saturday and meant to attend the bluegrass festival. My vehicle stopped running. So I got someone to check it out and the alternator went out. So we had to leave it parked there til Tuesday. Dale and Joy came to my rescue and repaired it for me. Thanks to them.

I talked to Joy Saturday evening. Good to hear from her again. They were fine. I was so glad they could help me. They always do help out when needed. God bless you. I love you.

Irene Dunn called Saturday night. Good to talk to her again. Call again soon.

I talked to Ginger Potter on Wednesday. Good to hear from her. She is a nice and friendly lady.

Ann called recently. Good to hear from her.

Irene Dunn called Thursday. Good to hear from her again. She is always the same. I live to talk to her. She's a very nice lady. God bless you. Call again soon.

Barry called on Thursday. Good to hear from him. He was trying to stay cool. Today has been such a very hot and humid day. We'll all be glad when the weather gets cooler.

Pearl Shearer called Friday and wanted to know if I wanted a cat or kitten. I told her I'd rather have an adult cat. She said she had some pretty ones to get go. Good to hear from her. She's a nice lady. I'll get back with her later. She was telling me about her church and what large crowds she has and what good service they have.

Alpha was Thursday supper guest of Dempsey and Rosie, and Rosie wanted me to make homemade biscuits and gravy and I told her I would. When we ate them they were delicious, and we also had fried chicken and other food. and Rosie's sister, Betty Ann, and a little girl were there. I think it was her granddaughter. They love to come to Dempsey's and Rosie's. Rosie bought a large swimming pool and on these hot days they all love to get into the pool and cool off.

Alpha was at Dempsey's Friday night to pick up my straw hat I had left and her sister, Betty, was visiting again and some other friends were there visiting Rosie.

Please pray for my son, Dempsey. He fell off a ladder on Memorial Day weekend at his home and broke his pelvic in three places. He went back to work at Frederick and May but he's not suppose to lift anything heavy, but now he's not doing too well and is still in pain. I wonder why he had to fall off that ladder and injure himself. I worry so much about him. He's in a bad situation. He shouldn't be on the job working for a long time yet. He's not able, but he goes on trying.

I talked to Thelma at Peyton's Drug Store on Friday. She is a nice lady. I've known her and her family for years.

Today, Aug. 2, is going to be real hot temperatures, into the 90s. I dread all this real hot weather. We've sure had a hot summer. Be glad when fall arrives. Maybe it will be cooler, but I have talked to some people and they say they love the hot, summer weather.

My grandson, Grant, came in from Ohio recently and is visiting his dad and other relatives. Good to see him again. He is a very sweet and special young man.

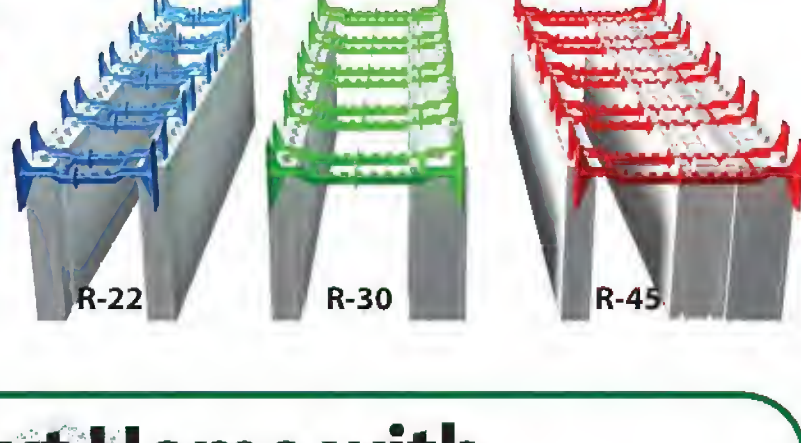

We always listen to Rev. Vernon Lewis each Sunday on the radio station W.L.K.S., West Liberty. He sure does a good job preaching and is improving. He preaches the gospel truth just what it takes. We are living in perilous times. So much sin going on, people wondering to and fro and so much hatred, jealousy and strife. To all others who are working for the Lord, keep up the good work and don't ever give up.

Barry and Grant came Saturday evening and ate a good ole country supper with me. Everything from the garden, was it ever good! Hurry back soon.

God bless you.

I always watch Jimmy Swaggart on Dish, channel 257. He really preaches the gospel truth and has wonderful singers, also. I love his broadcast, it's on 24 hours daily.

Joy called recently. Good to hear from her again. They were fine.

My sister, Enone, called Saturday and she was telling me about my brother, Emory, who is in the rest home in Indiana. He seems to be improving. Glad to talk to you, sister. She and Ed were very well.

There is a singer on Jimmy Swaggart's broadcast. His name is Robin Herd. He sure is a good singer and a very spiritual singer. We love to hear him sing.

Friday, Aug. 3, I was gone to town to pay bills, etc. and got started late. I had to stay home til Dish Network came to fix my satellite and when I got back home just before dark, someone had brought me a water bucket of ripe tomatoes and some sweet corn. Whoever brought the vegetables didn't leave a name, but I think I know and I thank them very much for their kindness. It was very much appreciated.

Barry came and spent a few nights with me. Glad to have him visit me and his son, Grant, from Ohio, has been visiting us. Glad to see him.

Get well wishes to Gayle, who's been on the sick list. She suffered a stroke recently and was hospitalized a few days. We heard today she is improving. Everyone pray for her.

Barry has been here and done some weedeating and other work. Thanks to him. It was appreciated.

Joy called one day this week. Good to hear from her again. They were all doing well. Call again soon.

Today, Aug. 10, it sure is turning much cooler and I'm so glad and thankful for that. It has rained a good shower. I hope it stays cooler. We've had such very hot weather. It won't be long til fall and we'll all be glad.

If anyone has green beans and tomatoes for sale or pick on the halves, call me and let me know.

I have some beautiful flowers in my yard and they have bloomed all summer and now after a lot of rain, they're not as beautiful as they were, but still blooming. There all different colors. I love those kind of flowers. They bloom and bloom for so long, but you have to keep them in the shade, or part shade.

I talked to Eileen recently. She is a very nice and friendly lady, always the same.

Everyone pray for my brother, Emory, who's in a rest home. He's holding his own. The Lord

John 15:17-19 And when he came to himself, he said, How many hired servants of my father's have bread enough and to spare, and I perish with hunger! I will arise and go to my father, and will say unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and before thee, And am no more worthy to be called thy son: make me as one of thy hired servants. What a homecoming for this son when he went to his father's house. Have you come to know that what God the Father has for you is far better than what this old world and the devil has to offer you.

What a great day at the church! We had 124 for homecoming service and everyone enjoyed fellowshiping with old friends. We were blessed to have one of the former pastor's wife from Middletown, Ohio, Darlene Howard, to attend as well as some habitat of humanity workers from New Mexico who are working in our area to name a few among all those who were there. The Fair Haven Quartet from London, Ky. did a great job in sharing the gospel through their singing and testimonies. It is great to have talent such as they have with them living and knowing exactly what they are singing about that makes them one of the best quartets that there is. The feeling of the presence of God was felt that made the service a blessing to all.

Caney Valley News

By Tracey B. Hatton

Aug. 13--Hello again from Caney Valley. Well the 60 Saturdays are now over. You may ask what do I mean. If you remember back in a May column, I wrote that my husband, Boone, would think that everyday was Saturday since I was off for the summer. Now that school is back in session we have now gone back to one Saturday a week, Ha Ha. We started school here in Morgan County on August 9th. We had a wonderful first and second days, and hopefully each day will get better. The students, for the majority, were excited to get back into a routine and to see their classmates. We pray for a wonderful year and that each person that comes in contact with students, can make a difference in their lives whether great or small. You know that it takes more muscles to frown than it does to smile. We should be grateful for every day that we have and if our health is good, doubly grateful, and if our mind is good then three times as grateful, and if we know the Lord as our Saviour, be eternally grateful.

Speaking on being grateful. What is the definition for this word? I looked it up and it means: feeling or expressing thanks, comforting, and having the desire or reason to thank somebody. I also researched the word: Grace and that has several meanings, but the one that is so important relates to God's grace. It is the infinite love, mercy, favor, and goodwill shown to humankind by God. It is also the condition of being free of sin through repentance to God. In Romans we learn in chapter 5:19-21, "For as by one man's disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous. Moreover the law entered, that the offense might abound. But where sin abounded, grace did much more abound. That as sin hath reigned unto death, even so might grace reign through righteousness unto eternal life by Jesus Christ our Lord." Then in Romans 6:14, "For sin shall not have dominion over you: for ye are not under the law, but under grace. Grace is unmerited favor. There is not one thing we do to deserve God's grace. When it is speaking of the law, it is referring to the law in the Old Testament, but when Jesus Christ was born, crucified, resurrected, and atoned for our sins then that is when grace was established. I am so glad for my saviour and the grace that God gives us daily and the grace that he gave me when I accepted him.

We want to express condolences to Mr. Brownie Flannery's family. Brownie succumbed to his death on Friday, August 10, with his family beside him. He was surrounded by love and prayers as his journey here on earth was ending and his heavenly journey was beginning. If he could say anything to anyone, I believe that he would look at them, with that smile that I always seen him with, regardless of how bad he felt, and he would tell you that you need to prepare your heart and life and give your heart and life to the Lord. He is no longer suffering and he is rejoicing in his heavenly home. Although, his family will miss him terribly, he would not come back to this old earth and his tired body for anything. You may say how do you know this? You see Brownie knew the Lord and he knew a better life was waiting. He would now tell you, you all come see me and you know the path you have to take if you want to see me. I ask you dear Lord to give this family strength and comfort during their time of sorrow.

Kim Barker-Burton was in over the weekend to visit with mom and Cecil and family. She attended a baby shower for Nikki Dalton Haney. She is the daughter of Mike and Brenda Dalton. She is married to Travis Haney. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Haney. This is their first baby. They are expecting a little girl; her name will be Aubrey Morgan. We will pray for a safe and wonderful delivery.

Rachel Hatton returned to Morehead Wednesday. She has been with us the last two weeks. She has been a great help, but she always is. I had a procedure done, and could not lift, so here she came and helped her dad and me out. To be 16 years old, we are very proud of her. She is a good girl, she works hard and she is very caring. I appreciate having such a wonderful step-daughter. I am so thankful for the relationship that we have. Rachel, your help has been so appreciated and I cannot tell you enough how thankful I am that you came to help us out.

May the Lord bless and keep you on your daily journey.

Perkins wins first bomber race at 191 Speedway

Ferguson leads Fouts in late model championship standings by one point

By Miranda M. Cantrell
Fan Appreciation Night on Saturday, Aug. 11, at 191 Speedway in Hazel Green ushered in a new winner in the bomber class as Morgan County's Robby Perkins won his first feature event of the season.

Perkins (#460) bested perennial contenders Colby Taylor (#15), Reggie Ritchie (#4) and Robert Ellis (#00) for his first win at the track, where he also won one of the evening's bomber heat races.

The Ezel resident - a 23-year racing veteran - has won at tracks in Salyersville, Perry County and Kingsport, Tenn., where he was named champion in the open wheel modified division. He was previously a successful competitor in NASCAR's now-defunct minor league Winston racing series.

In the late model class, Derek Fisher (#38), of Olympia, beat Jamie Ferguson (#13), of West Liberty, and Brandon Fouts (#81) to score his first win since he encountered extensive mechanical problems that took him out of competition for much of the season.

Ferguson leads Fouts in the late model championship standings by one point.

Other feature winners included Scott Lemaster (#11), of Salyersville, open wheel modified; James Rice (#53), modified four-cylinder; Kinsey Patton (#7K), stock four-cylinder #1; and Tyler Haynes (#04), stock four-cylinder #2.

Morgan County Football

Cougars defeat Betsy Lane in scrimmage, host Powell Friday

By David Patrick
It is now T-minus eight days and counting until Morgan County football kicks off the 2012 season, which will take place at Boyd County on August 24.
Coach Brian Turner got a glimpse of his team last week in a controlled scrimmage at Betsy Layne. The Cougars outscored their opponent in touchdowns (7 – 3) en route to the exhibition win.
While the coaching staff was expecting big things from the defense, it was the offense that stole the show. Kody Thornsberry, Joe Holbrook, Larrin Collins, Jordan Whitt and Walker Crase all tallied touchdowns as Morgan moved the ball almost at will. Aside from a single busted play, the Cougars gained at least two yards on every snap, which included multiple plays of 10 yards or more.
“I was very surprised with how our offense moved the football,” Turner said following the game. “Kody was just lights out doing all that dancing, juking and jiving to break tackles and gain yards. He somehow makes his way through traffic and picks defenses apart.”
But Thornsberry had plenty of help, including senior Joe Holbrook, who excelled on both sides of the football.
“Joe had an outstanding game. In fact, I thought he was the best player on the field. Offensively he made big plays and on defense he was quick and aggressive. It’s exciting to see Joe play that hard.”
Morgan’s offensive success was made possible by good play up front by the line, which had been a question mark coming into the season. Tyler Conley, JT Brown, Nick Clevenger, Johnathan Crouch, Tanner McGuire, Kordell Smith and Chase Turner were impressive as Morgan marched the ball down the field.
Defensively, the Cougars held Betsy Layne’s spread offense in check, closing on the ball with the good speed Turner anticipates being the team’s strength.
“The defense wasn’t consistent, but it did look good in spurts. Walker, T.C. Conley and Jared

Volleyball Review

Lady Cougas open season with two wins, one loss

Aug. 9 — The Lady Cougar Volleyball team opened their season at home on Monday, Aug. 6, with Boyd County.
The Lady Cougar Varsity team consists of Bri Lindon, Melissa Watts, Libby Smith, Heather Haney, Tessa Preece, Brittany Fletcher, Heidi Howard, Marty Vest, Tara Deaton, and Jazzy Lykins.
In their opener, the Lady Cougars defeated Boyd County in 3 sets with scores of 25-17, 25-16, and 25-13.
Said Morgan coach Tammy Hensley, “The Lady Cougars played a great all round game with great killing and blocking the ball.” Watts had 15 kills and 2 blocks, Smith 5 kills and 5 aces, and Lindon had one kill. “Serving is looking good for the ladies, too,” Hensley said, noting that Smith posted 5 aces and Fletcher 6 aces against Boyd.
The Junior Varsity, which also won against Boyd, includes Marty Vest, Kindra Hembree, Jazzy Lykins, Leksie Smith, Allegra Howard, Andrea Gibson, Savannah Johnson, Tara Deaton, Brittany Fletcher, Dakota Goodpaster, Kelly Ferguson, Heidi Howard, and Tiffany Taulbee also won.
In an Aug. 7 road match with Bath County, the Lady Cougars won the first set 25-18 with their best net game this season and a good defense, as well. Watts, Lindon and Smith had 2 kills each and defensively, Howard, Haney and Preece had good games, getting good sets for the kills. Preece served up 2 aces and Fletcher had 1.
But Morgan fell short in the 2nd set 21-25. “The ladies got just a little too relaxed after the win in the first set and failed to play as aggressively on the net or floor,” coach Hensley said. Watts had 2 kills and an ace, and Haney and Preece each had an ace.
Although Morgan played very well in the third set, they fell just short of the mark, losing 26-28, although they “attacked and defended the net well, and demonstrated great teamwork and communication,” said Hensley. Watts had 2 kills and an ace.
The fourth set belonged to Morgan 25-16 with the Lady Cougars demonstrating a lot of communication and teamwork and a much more aggressive net game with 2 kills and 2 blocks from Watts, and a kill from Lindon and Smith, and great defensive play from Haney, Howard and Preece covering the spikes and returning.
The fifth and final set also went to Morgan 15-10. Morgan took the lead early and didn’t let up. Smith started it off with 3 straight aces and a kill, Watts followed up with 3 more aces and 2 kills.
On Wednesday, Aug. 8, the Lady Cougars fell to Montgomery County in another road match. In losing the first set 19-25, Morgan demonstrated very little net play and made too many errors to recover. Watts had a kill, a block and 2 aces and Lindon had a kill.
The second set also went to Montgomery 21-25 but Morgan stepped it up with fewer errors and a better net game. Watts had a kil and a block, Lindon had a kill and Smith had 2 kills. Fletcher served up two aces.
In the third set, Morgan definitely stepped it up winning 25-18 with much more aggressive play and a lot fewer errors. Lindon had 2 kills and a block, Smith 4 kills, and Haney and Fletcher had 2 aces. Fine defensive play from Haney, Howard, and Preece also helped secure the set.
But in the fourth set Morgan again fell short, losing 14-25, due in part to a breakdown in communication during and only one kill from Watts and a single ace from Watts.
Morgan is now 2 and 1 on the season.

Lady Cougars fall short in EKC tny.

The Lady Cougars traveled to West Carter Aug. 11 and 12 to play in the EKC tournament. The Morgan girls fell short of the mark, falling to Raceland in three quick sets 17-25, 13-25, and 12-25.
Coach Hensley said, “If the Lady Cougars had not had so many error, they would’ve been right in the game. They really dug out the spikes and serves Raceland was giving them really well. But we just need to get and stay focused on the court.”
The loss put the Lady Cougars 2 and 2 for the season.

KEY TO THE KINGDOM

I went out one morning and fell on the ground. I prayed for God in Heaven and the Holy Ghost came down. I went to church one Sunday and knelt down on my knees. I prayed to God in Heaven and He gave me the key. When I get to Heaven I’m gonna sing and shout. There’ll be no body up there to try to put me out. I know there is a Father. I know there is a Son. I know there is a Holy Ghost, and they all agree as one.

World Finance Corporation In New Permanent Location

By Miranda M. Cantrell
World Finance Corporation recently re-opened at its new permanent location inside the warehouse building behind Index Community Church.

Manager Jim Standafer said that the company’s former building at 256 Court Street near Bank of the Mountains was severely damaged by the March 2 tornado and has since been demolished.

“The roof was blown off the building and the second floor was destroyed,” Standafer said. “We got out about five minutes before the tornado hit.”

Standafer said that customers can expect continued loan and income tax services.

“We are providing the same services we always have,” Standafer said. “Customers seem to like the new offices and more convenient parking area.”

Standafer – along with World Finance employees Frankie Wilder, Shane Campbell and Hilda Phipps – had previously commuted to the company’s Morehead and Jackson offices before moving to Index.

“We are glad to be open again,” Standafer said. “Thanks to all of our customers for their support.”

For more information regarding World Finance Corporation, call 743-4212 or visit the office 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m. Monday-Friday at 6594 Liberty Road. Send correspondence to P.O. Box 490, West Liberty, KY 41472.
